DEADLINE NEAR FOR PRIMARIES

Politicians Wonder Whether Landon Men Will Enter His Name in State Contests

TIME IS GROWING SHORT

Today Last for Filing in Illinois Where Knox and Borah Will Do Battle

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 14—The political wise men looked toward the prairies today and wondered whether supporters of Gov Alf M Landon of Kansas would enter him in Republican presidential primaries on which increasing attention is centered

The time is growing short

Today is the last for filing in Illinois a state at least where backers of Col Frank Knox Chicago publisher and Sen Borah of Idaho will do battle for in advance of convention days Dates for filing in several other primary states will expire during the next month

Borah Roosevelt To Act

For some time there have been indications that President Roosevelt and Sen Borah plan to enter most of their respective party primaries this year

Aside from Landon's speech at Topeka Kans several weeks ago in which he touched upon current issues he has been comparatively quiet for a potential candidate Col Knox on the other hand has been on an anti new deal speaking tour in the east for some time

Before Knox left Boston last night to return to Chicago he aimed another blow against what he called the insanities of the new deal He forecast a solidly Republican New England in the November election

Former President Hoover laughed but did not comment when he was told at Portland Ore that Secretary Ickes described him as in a constant state of jitters

Hoover declared the country is facing the most critical situation in 70 years and pledged himself

FEDERAL JUDGE APPROVES NEW SILK MILL PLAN

Reorganization Program Expected To Pave Way for Increased Operations.

TO RETAIN PLANT HERE

Will Sell Three Others; Financing Outlined for New Corporation.

Federal Judge Henry W Goddard announced from the bench in federal court at New York City late yesterday that he will approve a reorganization plan for the Susquehanna Silk Mills Inc operating a branch plant in Marion The Associated Press reported in a news dispatch from New York

The reorganization plan, it is understood will restore the company to the rank of a private corporation and pave the way for increased operations in the plants provided trade conditions justify them The company has been in trusteeship and previously was in receivership

The plan of the company which operates several plants in Pennsylvania in addition to the one in Marion was submitted by Peter B Olney referee in bankruptcy who was appointed special master to sit in preliminary hearings

Outline of Plan

Under the proposals a new corporation will be formed and new stock issued Holders of the 10-year five per cent sinking fund gold debentures due June 1 1938 and all other creditors would receive one and one half shares of the class A stock and one and one half shares of the class B stock for each $100 principal amount of their respective claims with interest at five per cent

The plan provides that all the capital stock issued shall be deposited in a trust agreement with the voting power vested in three trustees At the expiration of three years holders of the voting trust certificates shall be entitled to vote on whether the business shall be liquidated

Finds Company Solvent

In his report to Judge Goddard following a series of hearings, Special Master Olney fixed the total liabilities of the company as of June 21 1934 at $10 060 787 and found the property and the assets amounted to not less than $14 000 000

He found the company was solvent and that 'provisions made for stockholders in said plan are therefore warranted

I am of the opinion and I find that the plan is fair and equitable and does not discriminate unfairly in favor of any class of creditors or stockholders' Olney said I am satisfied that the company under the management contemplated by the plan has a reasonable chance for successful operation I find the plan is feasible'

Location of Plants

The company owns six weaving plants located at Sunbury Jersey Shore Milton Lock Haven and Lewistown Pa and Marion Under the reorganization plan a separate corporation will be formed to sell the plants at Lewistown Northumberland, which is owned by a subsidiary and Lock Haven

The board of directors will be headed by William M Vermilye Henry Schniewind Jr the president will continue in that capacity Schniewind is the only member of the old board who will continue

No objection was offered when the plan was submitted to Judge Goddard by Special Master Olney yesterday Mr Olney has held hearings since last April

After questioning attorneys for the various claimants Judge Goddard said 'I haven't looked it over but so far as I can see the order approving and confirming the reorganization plan is a proper one to sign I will say that without knowing Unless I shall find something in it I shall sign it'

Ready for Transfer

Sanford H E Freund attorney for the bondholders said his clients were desirous of turning over the property as soon as possible

Judge Goddard then indicated he might sign the reorganization order soon

Asked by Judge Goddard what profits the corporation could be expected to make, Freund said that it would be difficult to figure, but he estimated profits might reach $300,000 to $500 000 annually. He said, however, there was no telling when profits would start.

In the event of further delay in the plan as organized by the [illegible] parties, Judge Goddard [illegible] would set a [illegible] plan of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Top Heavy Offerings Mix Market but Aircrafts and Motors Stand Firm.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—A top-heavy offering of stocks today regular pattern with aircraft and motor shares standing out as the jumbled the market into an irrelatively firm spots.

Steels were reduced up to a point and many of the carriers dropped fractions. American Telephone snapped up strongly and Radio followed meagerly. Studebaker and General Motors edged forward and Chrysler was about unchanged.

Other gainers of about a point or so included Douglas Aircraft, American Crystal Sugar, Good year, Atlantic Coast Line, U. S. Pipe & Foundry and Curtiss-Wright.

Cotton was firm; grains irregular and foreign exchanges marched steadily higher in terms of the dollar. Bonds were steady and quiet.

Despite the hindrance of weather freight carloadings for the week ended last Saturday rose as anticipated for this time of year and analysts emphasized the current urge of the carriers to buy equipment.

Although most industrial news over night was favorable commentators in some cases sighted a corrective movement in the making. It was also pointed out that the London market turned quiet today after several sessions of activity.

The federal reserve system noted a $90,000,000 decrease in excess reserves to $3,000,000,000 because of the recent lo...f d withdrawal of treasury funds from member banks and an increase of money in c...ulation.

The pound sterling opened ¼ of a cent higher at $4.98¾, and the French franc was up .01 of a cent to 6.65¾ cents.

BINDLEY WINS COURT RULING

Appellate Judges Order Reinstatement of Ousted City Fireman.

An order of the Marion county common pleas court reinstating Burdette B. Bindley as a member of the Marion city fire department has been affirmed by the Third district court of appeals in a two to one decision. Bindley, dismissed from the department by former Safety Director W. N. Same on grounds of conduct unbecoming a member of the department was ordered reinstated by Judge Russell Kear of Wyandot county, sitting on the bench here several months ago.

Judge Kear held that there was insufficient evidence to sustain Bindley's dismissal. The dismissal by Sams had previously been upheld by the city civil service commission.

In affirming Judge Kear's decision the court of appeals acted on a motion filed by Bindley through his attorney J. W. Jacoby asking dismissal of the error proceedings taken to the district court by Fire Chief T. J. McFarland. The court did not take into consideration evidence in the case but acted solely on technical questions set up in the motion filed by Attorney Jacoby.

Omission In Pleading Cited

In his motion Attorney Jacoby alleged that Fire Chief McFarland was not the proper party to carry the error proceedings to the court of appeals and cited failure of the McFarland error petition to list as an error of the lower court the overruling of a motion for a new trial.

The district court held that the allegation that the fire chief was not the proper party to appeal the case was without merit. It was on the second ground cited by Jacoby that the court found in favor of Bindley. The judges ruled that since McFarland's petition in error did not list as one of the grounds of error the overruling of a motion for a new trial that consequently any error that may have intervened in the overruling of such a motion is not subject to adjudication by this court.

Judges Divided

On this phase of the case the court handed down a split decision, Judges William B. Klinger and Charles Guernsey affirming and Judge Phil M. Crow dissenting. The majority opinion was written by Judge Guernsey. In his dissenting opinion Judge Crow held that any error of the lower court was not in overruling a motion for a new trial but in a consideration of the evidence. He held that the omission of new trial grounds from the petition in error was not sufficient reason for affirming the lower court without giving consideration to other phases of the case.

Ruling on another question in which all three judges agreed the court held that McFarland's petition in error did not conform with what is known as Rule B of the court which requires that petitions in error must cite by page number in the bill of exceptions cases in which alleged error occurred.

City Solicitor Ralph F. Cathcart who was elected to office since the case was instituted said today that future action in the case was not yet definitely determined. He indicated however that the case may be taken to the state supreme court. Former City Solicitor Theodore B. Ochs and Attorney William P. Mahrt represented Chief McFarland and the city in the litigation before the court of appeals.

U. S. CUT SILVER TO HELP CHINA

Pulled Market Prop To Halt Smuggling of Metal and Resale to America.

By Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — The United States treasury deliberately "broke" the world price of silver in December to halt smuggling of the metal from China to Japan for resale to this government on the London market, Secretary Morgenthau revealed yesterday.

As another move to counteract smuggling activities through Japan, the United States bought 50,000,000 ounces of silver directly from the Chinese Nanking government, paying $25,000,000, while the Japanese were extending their control over North China, the secretary revealed.

China nationalized silver early last fall and called all of the metal in, just as gold was called in by the Roosevelt administration early in 1933. Japan, non-silver producing country, suddenly began to be a big silver exporter to London.

Secretary Morgenthau withdrew the United States from the London market as a buyer in December. The world price of silver, which had reached 81 cents an ounce in April, crashed to 44 cents in December.

This huge drop made smuggling of silver from China to Japan unprofitable. Then the silver began to flow back to the Chinese government. To help the Chinese, Morgenthau bought outright the 50,000,000 ounces, bringing to 89,000,000 ounces the total amount purchased from the Nanking government. The price paid for the 39,000,000 ounces previously purchased was not disclosed.

The silver purchase law requires acquisition of the metal until the price reaches $1.29 an ounce, or until silver stocks reach one-third of the government's $10,000,000,000 gold stock.

Slightly less than a billion ounces of silver are needed to bring up the ratio to 23 1-3 per cent silver at the present time, treasury officials disclosed. The present silver stock is about 1,600,000,000 ounces which, at $1.29 an ounce, has a monetary value of around $2,100,000,000, it was said.

FARMER TAKEN IN LIQUOR RAID

Second Morrow Co. Arrest Boosts Inspector Broadley's Total to 17.

State Inspector K. T. Broadley, who has directed a series of raids in Marion resulting in 15 arrests on liquor violation charges, transferred his activity to Morrow county yesterday for the second time in less than a week and arrested Joe Diaz, a North Bloomfield township farmer, on a charge of liquor possession and manufacture.

Broadley, who was accompanied by Sheriff Fred Struble and Prosecutor Nelson Campbell of Mt. Gilead, said they uncovered three stills, 165 gallons of wine, one gallon of whisky and 10 quarts of home brew hidden on the Diaz premises.

The raid was conducted at 6:30 p. m. yesterday and officers reported that after several hours search they discovered the stills dismantled and hidden in the attic of the Diaz residence and garage. Parts of the still was found hidden under old clothes in the attic, the whisky was found in the kitchen and the wine in the cellar of the home, Broadley said. The Diaz home is on the county line road about one mile south of Galion.

Diaz will face charges of possessing the stills and of manufacture of spirituous liquor when he is brought before Common Pleas Judge P. H. Wieland of Mt. Gilead, Tuesday morning, Inspector Broadley said.

Samuel Rentscheler, another Morrow county farmer, who was arrested last Saturday on a charge of possessing a 30-gallon still and 50 gallons of mash, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before United States Commissioner Joseph W. Horner at Columbus, Wednesday. He was released on bond of $1,000 after being bound over to the federal grand jury. Attorney Walter Dressel of Mt. Gilead was counsel for Rentscheler.

The raid yesterday was one of 17 staged recently in Marion and Morrow counties under the direction of Inspector Broadley in an effort to curb illicit traffic. Prior to starting the raids he was named state liquor inspector for Marion and Morrow counties.

WOMAN TRIED AS BABY THIEF

Claim She Stole Infant To Fool Men, Her Sons Face Murder Charge

By The Associated Press

MONCTON N B Feb 14—A woman charged with first passing off a doll as her baby and then stealing a real infant in order to place two male friends under moral obligation was committed yesterday to trial on a charge of kidnaping

At the same session of the criminal assize court her two sons will also be tried on a charge of murdering the father of the baby allegedly kidnaped

It will be New Brunswick's first kidnaping trial and one of the strangest cases in Canada's legal annals.

The crown alleges that Mrs. May Bannister who faces the kidnap trial, "just had to procure a baby somewhere," because she had told two men friends she was expectant.

She "warned the men early in December," the crown asserted and then appeared on the streets with what witnesses testified appeared to be a "bundled up baby." In reality, said the prosecution, it was a life size doll

Then because of her "necessity" of obtaining a baby, her two sons went to the shack of Philip Lake a bush squatter the crown alleges the night of Jan 5 Lake was shot and was cremated when the cabin burned down His common law wife Mrs. Marshall Ring and their elder child froze to death in the snow outside.

Frances, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs Bannister told the court she and her two brothers carried away the Lake baby the night Lake was killed, but refused to say why

During preliminary hearing yesterday Mrs. Bannister was sullen and once threatened to "throw something"

The prosecutor asserted authorities had found the Lake baby and a large doll in the Bannister home. The doll he added has been split open to remove the automatic mamma cry.

PRISON YIELDS BOGUS BILLS AND EQUIPMENT

Cache of Spurious Money Revealed at San Quentin by Secret Service Men

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO Calif Feb 14—U S Secret Service Captain Thomas B Foster yesterday revealed a cache of spurious bills and counterfeiting equipment have been found in San Quentin prison

His agents had been searching for about $9 500 worth of the spurious money after Daniel R Wilson paroled prisoner confessed San Quentin's engraving room had been used to produce the bills Foster said the cache was found in the ceiling of the engraving room and a search of the prison also revealed the plate from which conspiring prisoners printed the false money

Wilson pleaded guilty today of passing counterfeit and was expected to be a witness against his brother in law Clifford E Park and Thomas Bell charged with conspiracy to pass it.

Officers said the bills were smuggled out of the prison by underground methods and sold at $20 for each 1 000 bills of $10 denomination

Jingoists.

Sen Key Pittman chairman of the senate foreign relations committee has incurred the charge of jingoism by attacking Japanese foreign policy from the floor of the senate

A jingoist strictly defined is a fellow who boasts noisily about his country's military power The world has taken on certain additional meanings however in popular usage

Broadly defined a jingoist is any sword rattler He boasts not only of his country's strength but also of its determination to stand up for itself when affronted

He is positive that other governments are full of evil intentions and that his government is full of good intentions Consequently he is likely to affront those other governments

Jingoists aren't of great consequence unless they happen to get into positions where their utterances carry authority The world is over supplied with bristling warriors but most of them can be overlooked

When they happen to get into high places however they are dangerous Benito Mussolini is dangerous because he is convinced that fighting strengthens a nation

Adolf Hitler is dangerous because he has sustained himself politically by reviving German militarism The military clique in Japan is dangerous because it has gained virtual control of the government

The United States has its quota of jingoists Some of the most dangerous of them never have fired a gun yet are driven by inherent jingoism to unbalanced admiration of military force

Unfortunately most of them deny hotly that they are jingoists They merely are patriots in their own estimation The things they say and do which prod the martial spirit bear the stamp of sincerity

They are no less jingoists for that fact On the whole a stupid war maker is worse than a bright one because he can be duped The United States needs to be on guard against jingoism particularly the stupid variety

Speeches like that of Sen Pittman accomplish nothing and do irreparable damage If such a speech had to be made it should have been constructed to suggest moderation Sen Pittman's position is too important to be used for inflammatory utterances

An Endless Battle.

Freedom of the press is a glib phrase which rolls off the American tongue so easily it conveys little of the fundamental principle that it describes Freedom is taken so largely for granted in the United States that it is held to be beyond danger

The supreme court decision prepared by Mr Justice Sutherland voiding Louisiana's tax on newspaper advertising stressed the similarity between that tax and similar threats to the business of publishing made since the invention of printing The press has fought for freedom from government throughout its history It has won many great battles and lost many It still is fighting an endless battle is the only means of preserving freedom

The Constitution guarantees freedom of expression but the Constitution too is subject to attack There always will be men afraid of public information which they cannot control just as there always will be men who chafe against restraints which they cannot cast off to suit their personal desires Freedom which implies the right to impose restraints as well as to give approval is too broad a conception for some minds to grasp

One passage of Mr Justice Sutherland's opinion is destined to be quoted frequently It is A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves. Here is a fundamental truth easily ignored in the almost careless attitude of the public toward publications The press has no right to any privileges of freedom which are not parallel with the privileges held by its readers Its freedom and their freedom are one and the same thing

A Man With an Idea.

W H Harvey—Coin Harvey—was a man with an idea Relatively few Americans now living know what the idea was and not many members of Mr Harvey's own generation really understood it But it was the principal issue in at least one political campaign it helped to bring political prominence to William Jennings Bryan and it left its stamp on monetary theories in the United States

A man with an idea is a rarity When the idea is supported by energy and persistence it is bound to get attention even though the idea may be unacceptable "Coin" Harvey's fame rests not on his success but on his relentless zeal and boundless confidence in his own judgment Carl Jacob B. Coxey another monetary theorist has made his name a household phrase by the same kind of zeal and confidence

Other men whose ideas possibly were better have been rewarded with success but it is impossible to withhold admiration from any man who is willing to champion what he believes to be right even though popular judgment holds him to be wrong If only in a negative way such men contribute to the accumulation of knowledge by stimulating debate and future generations may deify Coin Harvey as a man who saw the light of truth before the world was able to understand him His idea always will be available thanks to his success in establishing it in the calendar of monetary theories.

Merited Advancement.

Many regret to hear that it will lose Adjutant and Mrs John Hunter as citizens and as heads of the Salvation Army here but at the same time recognize their assignment to a larger field as well deserved advancement and a wise action on the part of the Army management

A record of accomplishment such as that made by the Salvation Army here under the direction of Adjutant and Mrs Hunter would have a tendency—their eventual transfer to some point offering more opportunities for expanding their good work that all hoped in their new location a city five times the size of Marion

The Marion Salvation Army post is on probably the most solid basis in the history of its activities and for this the major credit naturally must go to the two officers heading the work which terminate their four and a half years of duty here on March 1 This they have accomplished by conscientious and devoted service which they not only maintained steadily and efficiently but also the constantly expanded by development of new methods and agencies for human welfare

In doing so they have won the confidence and support of citizens generally providing the Salvation Army work here with public good will and cooperation which will be passed on to the new leaders to be maintained as a permanent aid to the organization's great humanitarian and religious program

Should Ohio Try It?

Lieut Gov Harold C Mosier thinks Ohio should abolish one house of the legislature provide for continuous legislative sessions and raise the pay of legislators to a point where men of outstanding ability would be attracted by state house service

The two-house legislature is on trial place it there by its own weaknesses It has not failed to function but it has not functioned well enough to prevent earnest consideration of a substitute Ohio is but one of many states looking speculatively at propositions for drastic legislative reform When it is remembered that city councils in the United States once were composed of upper and lower houses public interest in reforming state legislatures takes on more significance

So far Nebraska is the only state to experiment with the unicameral legislature Nebraska's experiment is too new to offer conclusive evidence of improvement, but the fact is that conclusive evidence never is required in such cases In most states legislatures have fallen to such low estate that any change seems assurance of improvement More than one important reform has originated in the same kind of dissatisfaction

Obviously the one house legislature would be subject to some of the same governmental ills which afflict the present system It could be only as good as the men elected to it no system can be any better than those who attempt to operate it. But it would be more flexible more efficient in the mechanical operations of the legislative process and infinitely easier to understand than the system which has creaked and groaned its way throgh multitudinous special sessions the last few years The two-house legislature has been placed on the defensive by Lieut Gov Mosier's interest in a substitute for it.

MENACED BY WOLVES

An uncomfortable night was spent by Mrs Samuel Bretz and her little family the second night after settling in their new home in Grand Prairie township in Marion county Detained at the bedside of a sick neighbor several miles away Mr Bretz had to allow his little family to weather the night as best they could

It was autumn and the grass and leaves were undergoing their annual burning The fire had aroused all the wild animals in the vicinity and with nightfall the panthers and wolves grew bolder and drew nearer to the little cabin Barricading the doors and windows Mrs Bretz marked time until morning while through the crevices in the logs could be seen the glaring eyes of the hungry wolves

Effort To "Punish" Court Indicated

Sen. Norris Aligns with New Dealers in Attack on 135-Year-Old System.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON Feb 14—Sen. Norris of Nebraska, father of the TVA and the man whom President Roosevelt indorsed for life tenure in the senate, favors the passage of laws by congress limiting and restricting the judicial power of the supreme court. He also favors a constitutional amendment to give congress the right to deal with agriculture as a national problem

There is no way of knowing to what extent Mr Norris reflects the purposes of the new deal but it is significant that the attack on the supreme court by Secretary Wallace continues and also the Nebraska senator referred specifically to the same idea that was mentioned by Mr Roosevelt in his message to congress about the power of congress to protect its legislative acts against review by the courts

The speech by Sen Norris and remarks being made from time to time by other members of congress make it apparent that an effort is to be made if possible to punish the supreme court for its opinions and that the system of government which has prevailed for nearly 135 years whereby acts of congress have been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court is to be transformed by the new deal if possible

The principal argument being made is that the Constitution does not have a line in it giving the right to the supreme court of the United States to declare acts of congress invalid This is an old controversy but it has never been emphasized except when some decisions of the umpire happen to go against the parties at interest.

The Constitution speaks of legislative power in telling what congress is to do and it speaks of judicial power" in specifying that the supreme court alone is to exercise that function

* * *

As for a definition of legislative power" there is not a line in the Constitution which enables a senator to speak indefinitely and keep legislation from being enacted as the late Huey Long did last summer

There is not a line in the Constitution that enables a member of congress to use the mails free of charge

There is not a line in the Constitution which permits senatorial committees to exercise administrative or espionage functions or to snoop around in the private affairs of the citizen

And there is not a line in the Constitution which enables congress to levy taxes that confiscate the property of the citizen

Congress has gradually construed its own legislative power and increased it over the span of years

The answer made by Sen Norris is that the people can defeat a congress every two years But can they? Under the system of organized minorities the majorities are helpless Also a President of the United States is more powerful especially when he has unlimited funds at his disposal, than almost two-thirds of both houses of congress A President might be defeated once in four years but the party to which he belongs can under the present system perpetuate itself in power by the use of the very spoils systems which Sen Norris condemns

One man—the President—has greater power than one justice of the supreme court in a 5 to 4 decision Against a President who refuses to sign a law repealing some statute that he originally favored the congress must marshal at least two-thirds of both houses The President is thus stronger than a majority of both houses

As for the supreme court, whose members are appointed for life so as to remove them from politics there is an appeal It is by constitutional amendment.

* * *

Mr Norris says it takes years to amend the Constitution It took about nine months to repeal the Eighteenth amendment when once two-thirds of both houses agreed to it

Only 11 months were required after congress had submitted Sen Norris own lame duck amendment to the states, for the requisite three fourths of the states to ratify it

There is nothing to prevent Mr Roosevelt from urging a constitutional amendment broad enough to include the powers he sought under the NRA and the AAA, and if both houses of congress want such an amendment it is significant that no such proposal has been reported out of a committee of either house since the supreme court decision of last year on the NRA or the AAA decision of a month ago

The people in as short a time as nine months have amended the Constitution and they can override the supreme court at any time they choose in the way specified in the Constitution itself

But what the defenders of constitutional law insist is that the new dealers shall not try to amend the Constitution by stampeding the supreme court into inserting phrases in the Constitution that do not belong there The court it is agreed, should not be asked to take responsibility for adding to the Constitution something that the people alone have a right to add

The judicial power is described by the words of the constitution as follows

The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish

Now congress can abolish the lower courts But it cannot abolish the state courts which must interpret for themselves the meaning of the Constitution, subject to review by the supreme court. The Constitution further says

This Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof shall be the supreme law of the land

Who is to say what is meant by "in pursuance thereof" The framers of the Constitution told their respective constituencies when they went home to urge ratification in 1787 that the judiciary would interpret the Constitution This was the custom in colonial legislatures

This view has been accepted from the time the first act of congress was declared invalid in 1801 by Chief Justice Marshall down to the present day and it is interesting to note that in one of the best speeches ever made on the Constitution, Franklin D Roosevelt in March 1930, over a nationwide radio hookup defended the American system of judicial interpretation."

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Feb 14—The snappiest piece of legislative speeding exhibited in congress lately was performed on the pending Robinson Patman business regulation bill It was a complete answer to everyone who has been complaining about congressional red tape

Few senators had even heard of the bill except by hearsay until they half awoke few days ago and found it proposing something vaguely reminiscent of NRA and ready for passage No one knew exactly how it got up front like that. Probably no one will ever find out for sure but enough can be discovered to indicate the progress that has lately been made in lawmaking

Congress is developing a technique for streamlining bills in conformity to the rest of the streamlined world

Amplification

A bill generally like this one was proposed last May by Democratic Floor Leader Robinson and Representative Patman jointly It was framed to hit chain stores by letting the federal trade commission clamp down on their trade practices which cheapen prices

Exactly where the original draft came from is a matter of speculation But if you lay one finger on a certain group of wholesalers who represent about 15 per cent of that industry and the other on the federal trade commission you will not be far wrong

That bill snoozed without hearings in the senate judiciary committee for eight months It emerged Feb 3 with the whole original bill stricken out and a completely new bill inserted

Then senators sat up and took notice that it would regulate not only chain stores but apparently any person engaged in commerce in the United States which would include all business men and all who think they are business men

Sire

The new draft had been composed in private by Senator Marvel Logan Logan reported it was a sound measure and should not be delayed to hear what others might think of it. Investigations of the same subject (but not of the bill) had been conducted by the house FTC and others

Doubtful senators reached for their congressional directories and noticed that Senator Logan's biography indicated his business experience had been gained as chairman of the board of trustees of Brownsville which, apparently is a town in Kentucky Also he had been grand sire of the sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows as well as a noted Kentucky judge

If it had been a point of law the senate would have followed him blindly But, as all new dealers contend even six members of the supreme court were recently wrong on AAA so you have to be careful these days. Objecting Republican senators prevented the passage of the bill to form an independent personal opinion about how much business it would regulate

Telephone Voting

The doubters became even more dubious when they heard a cloakroom story about how the bill was voted out of the senate judiciary committee. At that particular committee meeting only two or three senators were present. You know how busy legislators always are.

The sires of the bill needed at least nine votes to take action so they got on the telephone They collected enough telephone proxies to accumulate twelve favorable votes on a bill which may be the best ever written but which would regulate "any person engaged in commerce"

Unquestionably if this new modernization method prevails congress need not assemble at all, but can vote by telephone Unfortunately it probably will not prevail. There are always people standing in the path of progress

Seeds

You may have noticed that congress has made less progress toward discontinuing seed loans That phase of farm relief started in the drought of 1930 There is no drought this year but congress is currently providing $50 000 000 for seed loans anyway

Agriculture Secretary Wallace is quietly against it Also a lot of congressmen promised last year that they would never do it again It does not fit in with the crop curtailment theory they are all promoting

Notes

Smiles are general in the supreme court but a few days ago an official one slipped in unnoticed The justices were having a hard time developing the argument of an attorney They asked question after question without understanding any more than they knew before whereupon dour Justice McReynolds observed This case seems to be a secret"

BUT READY TO FIGHT

Beneath a modest gravestone in the cemetery at Salem Ohio lies the body of a man who well deserves a more pretentious one It is that of John Andrew who had a most interesting life history and yet not all of it is known

Sometimes in the local records the name was spelled Andrews He was born in Marseilles France He joined the soldiers who came with Lafayette when he came to America to help the struggling colonists His record in the war of the Revolution shows among other things that he was with General Anthony Wayne at the storming of Stony Point.

When the War of 1812 came on he served as lieutenant colonel of a regiment of troops of Jefferson county He died about 1833.

ried to the supreme court from the appellate courts.

Actions Explained

A mandamus action is to compel an official to perform a duty imposed on him by law prohibition is an action to prevent an official from doing an unlawful act, quo warranto or ouster is an action to oust an official from a position which he is trying to hold illegally, procedendo is an action generally against lower judicial tribunals to compel them to follow proper procedure habeas corpus seeks to obtain freedom from illegal detention.

Four methods by which cases may be brought before the highest tribunal from the appellate courts are by filing a petition in error charging constitutional rights have been denied by filing a motion for leave to file a petition in error charging the lower courts with illegal conduct of a case, by filing a motion asking for an order directing the appellate court to certify its records for review and by the appellate court itself certifying its records for review in cases where its decision conflicts with the decision of another appellate court involving the same legal questions

The supreme court either in passing upon motions or on the merits of a case deals only with legal and constitutional questions over which there is a dispute It does not consider evidence An appelate court may consider evidence

Most of the cases coming up from the appellate courts are on motions to certify records or for leave to file petitions in error Next in order are cases appealed as of right in which constitutional questions are involved Those certified for review to clear up conflicting appellate court decisions are few

When an attorney files his motion for a review in any manner he files with it a brief setting forth the court decisions of this or any other state or the U S supreme court to back his contention that the lower courts did not construe the law properly Opposing counsel notified of the action also file briefs setting forth their interpretation of the law and citing court decisions to sustain their contention

Oral Arguments Given

When these briefs are filed and all issues presented which may be 10 days or several weeks the case is assigned by the clerk for oral argument. Counsel generally get 15 minutes to a side to present their views Oftentimes the judges will fire questions at the attorneys which may prove embarrassing unless the attorney is well fortified with court decisions or a concise line of reasoning

Certain days are set aside by the court for hearing these motions Each judge is furnished with a complete set of all pleadings and briefs and in the big consultation chamber they discuss legal questions at issue and decide whether there is sufficient justification for a review If the decision is no the appeal is denied and the decision of the appellate court stands

If however the court decides there is a debatable question raised and decides to hear the case on its merits additional briefs are filed and the case set down for another presentation This time the attorneys are allowed at least 30 minutes to a side and if the case is a knotty one an hour may be granted The complete record of testimony and all transactions in the lower courts are considered by each judge

Sometimes it happens that the judges are at wide variance on what they deem the court's decision should be Then the arguments start Each presents his views and tys to bring the others to his way of thinking Sometimes the court will be split up for weeks over a decision before a sufficient number to render a decision agree In most cases only a majority of the court is required to render a decision

When a case is refused review there is no written opinion and no permanent record kept of how the judges voted But when a case is decided on its merits an opinion is prepared setting forth reasons for arriving at the decision Sometimes dissenting judges will write a minority opinion, but this is not necessary

The Stars Say--

For Saturday Feb. 15

Judging by the lunar transits in operation on this day there should be much activity and energetic launching of cherished plans and projects with successful and profitable denouements excepting for those in employment The latter are under a rather adverse ray from the luminaries It would be best under such reign to rely on individual initiative rather than seek support from superiors There is also a sign of lively doings in the realm of the social domestic and romantic With sagacity it should be a gratifying day

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very active and enterprising year with much success in launching new projects on individual initiative rather than in connection with employers or superiors The fortunes may be accelerated on this independent score and the personal life will find much liveliness and gratification

A child born on this day may be energetic and constructive and will make its greatest successes on its own initiative It will be popular and have a happy life

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Care of Teeth.

THERE IS no doubt that the present day public health movements have resulted in marked changes in the very fundamentals of medicine These changes have been effected through extensive research work and the application of scientific discoveries. The advancement in the field of dentistry play an important part in improved public health conditions. Today everyone accepts dentistry as one of the learned and outstanding professions. That is an achievement of the present century Prior to 1934 what has become an important branch of medicine was considered a trade for which little or no training was required It was customary in olden days to permit teeth to decay The work of the dentist was hardly more than to extract to "pull" diseased teeth and even this treatment was not applied until the pain became unbearable.

Today many constitutional ailments can be traced to infection somewhere in the body For this reason the physician always inspects the patient's teeth to make sure that the infection is not in the mouth To confirm his suspicions he sends the patient to the dentist to have the teeth X rayed This is indeed wise because the most serious infections as far as the general health is concerned do not cause pain The X ray will reveal the true conditions

I cannot overstate the importance of caring for the teeth and preventing decay It is true that the proper foods and a high state of nutrition will do much to build healthy teeth and keep them that way But it is necessary to see your dentist in order to be on guard for signs of beginning tooth decay He will examine your teeth for tiny cracks and holes If there are any present he will fill them and arrest decay

In addition to personal attention to the teeth and mouth it is essential to include in the diet foods which are rich in tooth building elements I refer to lime phosphorus and vitamin D When these substances are not consumed freely the teeth become soft and easily decay

Foods rich in these valuable substances are fresh fruit cereals milk cream butter eggs and cod liver oil Abundant sunshine promotes the formation of good teeth as well as sturdy bones Cod liver oil is given particularly to young children because it contains large amounts of vitamin D

Bear in mind that proper attention to the teeth will prevent much ill health Report to your doctor and your dentist at least once a year

Dr Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send addressed stamped envelopes with their questions All inquiries should be addressed to him in care of this newspaper

FORECLOSURE SUIT SOLVES OHIO KILLING

Only Few Angles To Be Checked After Man Admits He Slew His Half Brother

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O Feb 14—Sheriff Thomas J Kilcawley said today only a few angles remained to be checked in the solving of a two and half year-old slaying which was unknown until a foreclosure suit led to its disclosure

Kilcawley said Ezra Hoose of Mentor township vineyard operator had signed a confession that he killed his half-brother Arley Parmelee 55, former Painesville barber, in a fight Sept. 2, 1922.

Parmelee's body was found in a shallow grave late yesterday after Hoose had pointed out the spot to deputy sheriffs.

Hoose was requestioned today by County Prosecutor Harold U Daniels, who said one or two discrepancies had been noted in his story Kilcawley quoted Hoose as saying he shot his half brother but Coroner James C Powell said preliminary examinations of the remains did not show evidence of gunshot wounds

Parmelee's absence had been noted by neighbors but no investigation took place until filing of a foreclosure suit Jan 29 by the Lake County Savings & Loan Co Parmelee and several others were named Futile efforts to serve Parmelee with papers in the case aroused the suspicions of attorneys and led to the investigation Kilcawley said Hoose was questioned for nine hours

Many Landon supporters remained unworried by Sen. Borah's activity pointing out that in 1920 none of the three Republicans most active in the primaries got the nomination It finally went to Warren G Harding a dark horse

G. O. P. May Retain Favorite Son Plan

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 14—A hint that Ohio Republican regulars might fight Sen William E Borah's presidential nomination drive with the original favorite son plan instead of abandoning it for indorsement of some leading candidate came today from the G O P state chairman, Ed D Schorr

Schorr qualified an earlier statement that he had found no "great unanimity of sentiment or judgment for any potential candidate in conferences with district leaders by saying

An increasing number of persons I have talked to think the favorite son plan should be retained I believe it is gaining in favor

Schorr said he might undertake a letter poll of party leaders throughout the state to get their views on the situation The committee will meet next Tuesday or Wednesday, but Schorr said that if he made the poll any decision on the favorite son plan would have to go over until replies were received

U. S. BOB-SLEDDERS LEADING IN OLYMPICS

New Yorkers Top Field After First Two Heats; Norway Skater Boosts Honors.

By The Associated Press

GARMISCH PARTENKIRCHEN Germany Feb. 14—America's dashing bob-sledders returned to record-breaking form today and gained the lead at the halfway mark of the Olympic two-man competition as Ivar Ballangrud, world speed skating king, carried Norway back to the top of the unofficial team standings.

Jean Brown and Alan Washbond of Keene Valley, N. Y., held a clear lead over the field after the first two heats of the four heat bob-sledding competition had been completed to the tune of one new course record after another.

The day's ultimate new stand and of one minute 20.31 seconds for the 1600 meter Olympic chute was credited to the Swiss pilot Fritz Feierabend, but Brown and Washbond breaking the old mark in each heat, led in elapsed time by more than three seconds. The second American duo of Gilbert Colgate Jr., of New York and Dick Lawrence of Branchville N J, also smashed the old record twice but had to be content with third place behind Feierabend. The final two heats of the championship will be run off tomorrow.

Ballangrud gave another convincing demonstration of his speed skating mastery in capturing the 10 000 meters crown in 17 minutes 24.3 seconds time that clipped 31.9 seconds off the old Olympic record Eddie Schroeder of Chicago the leading American entrant, also was clocked in time that bettered the old record but he could finish no better than eighth in the crack field

Ballangrud's first place—giving Norway a clean sweep of all four speed skating titles—plus a fourth place for Charles Mathisen in the same event enabled Norway to gain the lead in the team standings with 118 points against 107 for Germany The United States remained in sixth place with 15 points

BIRTH RATE GIVES MARION 6-YEAR POPULATION GAIN

Stork Holds Good Lead Over Grim Reaper Here Since 1930; Youngest Mother in 1935 Is 14 Years.

The population of Marion county and city has gained 1,256 by an excess of births over deaths in the six-year period from 1930 to 1935, it is shown by a study of vital statistics on file in the offices of city and county commissioners. Reports for 1935 have just been compiled by the two offices and forwarded to the state health department.

In 1935 the increase was 219 there being 362 deaths and 556 births in the city and 169 deaths and 184 births in the county. In the six-year period there were 2,224 deaths and 3,480 births reported in the city and 1,009 deaths and 1,119 births reported in the county. The total for the city and county in the six-year period is 3,233 deaths and 4,519 births.

A study of the birth and death rates for the city and county for the six years under consideration reveals some interesting information. The rates are based on the number of births or deaths in proportion to the population and give an accurate comparison of vital statistics in the urban and rural areas.

City and Rural Comparisons

In 1935 death rates for the city and county were practically the same, being 11.64 in the city and 11.77 in the county. But the birth rates for the two areas show considerable variation. Last year the birth rate for Marion city was 18.28 while the county rate was 112.82.

After experiencing two rather lean years in 1932 and 1933 the city birth data is staging something of a comeback but is still below the high mark of the six-year period, 19.27, set in 1930. The county rate also was at its high point in 1930 when the figure was 14.15.

Last year the city birth rate of 18.28 ran considerably ahead of the rate for the state as a whole. The state rate, according to news dispatches from the state health department at Columbus, was 14.40, placing Ohio behind the city but ahead of the 12.82 rate in the county.

The news reports indicate that the stork in Ohio was beginning to increase business after neglecting his work for more than 10 years. The 102,161 calls of the stork was an increase over the preceding year, for the first time with one exception, since 1924. L. C. Plummer, chief of the division of vital statistics, said improved economic conditions was largely responsible for the increase in births last year.

The city and county reports for 1935 also contain records on cases of contagious or reportable diseases.

In the city the report lists the following cases:

Scarlet fever 259 cases, tuberculosis 39, chicken pox 26, measles 21, diphtheria 3, whooping cough 2, trachoma 2 typhoid fever 2 and inflamation of the eyes 2. Thirteen deaths from tuberculosis resulted from these diseases. There were also 22 deaths from pneumonia and six from influenza.

The county report lists contagious cases as follows:

Measles 13, scarlet fever 112 and tuberculosis 32. Measles caused one death, tuberculosis four, influenza one and erysipelas one. Twelve deaths were attributed to pneumonia.

NOTHING TO WHINE OVER

By International News Service

MELBOURNE—Half a dozen bottles of water made up the booty gained from a carefully planned smash-and-grab raid here. A motorcar drew up outside a hotel here, a man leaped out, brick at the hotel snatched some bottles back to the car. But is not worried—the bottles dummies, containing wine.

2 Things that Combat Colds like Magic!

ALMOST INSTANT RELIEF IN THIS WAY...

1. Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in ½ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat soreness and soreness instantly.

Instead of burdening your system with strong medicines for a cold, try the way pictured above — the modern way; the quickest, simplest and easiest to combat a cold.

Your own doctor, we are sure, will approve it. People everywhere have discarded old-time ways and adopted it. It takes hold of even a bad cold almost immediately:

Two Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water instantly you feel a cold coming on.

Three BAYER ASPIRIN tablets, crushed and dissolved in ½ glass of water, as a gargle. Gargle twice with this medicated gargle to allow it to go deep into the throat. The gargle will act like a local anesthetic to ease the pain of sore throat, and act to soothe soreness and rawness.

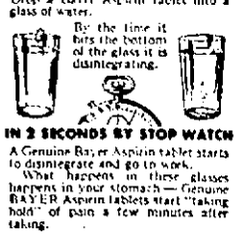
The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will start combating your cold internally, at once. And ease the accompanying aches and pains of a cold.

Try this modern way. But be sure to get real QUICK-DISSOLVING,

QUICK-ACTING BAYER ASPIRIN tablets. They go to work almost instantly. And dissolve thoroughly enough to use as a gargle.

WHY BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST

Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water.



IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH

A Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach — Genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

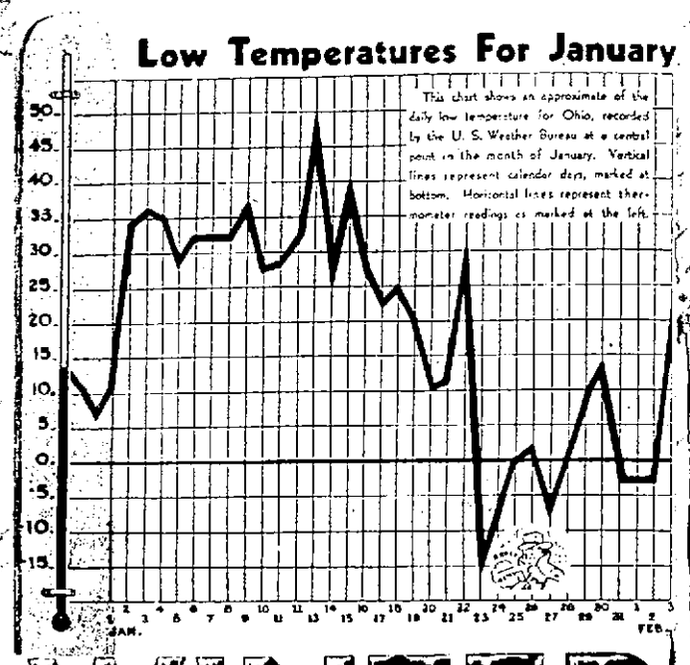
Low Temperatures For January



KING WINTER Has been Having His Day

"Call out the men —"

Thus the word flashed over wires as the severity of the blizzard became apparent on that eventful January afternoon.

Hundreds of wells had to be turned on — wells located miles from any road. Night was coming on. Men went out in two's to prevent becoming lost and freezing. Many returned with faces and feet frozen. Compressors, long unused, were warmed up and put into operation. Line gates and regulators had to be located under drifting snows. Messengers were sent out on foot when the extreme cold snapped telephone lines and stalled automobiles blocked the roads.

A sleepless group in a central control room was listening to the demands of more than 300 cities and towns for more gas — was trying to keep in touch with fields to supply it.

Morning was breaking. Would good gas service be maintained? You who use gas know that it was, but we thought you would be interested in this story of 600 men who faced the cold to make your service possible.

In years to come you'll reminisce, "I remember when——" and you'll tell about the blizzard of January 22, 1936, when the temperature dropped 49 degrees in 12 hours. You'll tell of high winds and drifting snows, of the extreme cold that hung on day after day.

Weather Bureau reports had given The Gas Company but a few hours warning. Transmission lines leading from the fields hurriedly were packed to the limit with gas under pressures as high as 400 pounds. Then the thermometer tobogganed and the wind set in.

Radiant heaters were lighted, range ovens — even top burners — were turned on to keep homes warm. Many, who use other fuels, exhausted their supplies in a few hours and fell back on gas. Homes regularly heated with gas turned on more heat. The reserve gas, which had been packed in the lines, vanished as though a plug had been pulled out of the end of the line. Calls for more gas came from a hundred cities at once. A sleepless army of 600 men were in the fields, turning on more wells, cutting in additional compressors, thawing regulators. King Winter was having his day, but the valiant efforts of our men had won — good gas service was maintained.

Likely your home was among the thousands that depended upon and used more gas in this crisis. If so, it will be no surprise to find your bill higher for that perod. But before branding it as unreasonable, make a mental check of the unfailing service which gas rendered, and remember that it represents the hardest dollar that we ever earned.

Soldierly Traits Evident In Judge C. B. Zimmerman

Editor's Note—This is the sixth of a series of sketches on Ohio's supreme court justices

* * *

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 14—Bushy unparted hair topping his six foot frame 44 year old Judge Charles B Zimmerman of Springfield is the baby of the Ohio supreme court

A son of one of the old Lutheran families of Springfield his father John L Zimmerman is considered one of the wheel horses of Ohio Democracy And the son has many traits of the father

Coming direct to the supreme bench from the practice of law by executive appointment some three years ago Judge Zimmerman retains many of the soldierly traits acquired in the trenches of Europe during the World war

An intent listener to arguments before the bar he seldom asks counsel questions But when he does they are pointed and often intended as a hint to the attorney to come quickly to the point without rambling He is considered one of the hardest workers on the bench

Agreeable of nature Judge Zimmerman never attempts to push himself forward where such action may be disagreeable to others He is extremely reserved in talking of his experiences seldom referring to them unless asked directly Among friends he is jovial and enjoys a good joke

In his decisions he is considered a moderate liberal

Bowing to the inevitable he wears his hair in a sort of pompadour fashion It is too stiff and bristly to yield much to the coaxing of comb and brush therefore he wears it short and roached straight up from the forehead without part at either middle or side

KIDNAPERS OF PRIEST LOCATED

Troops Contact Bandit Band Holding Ohio Priest in Manchukuo.

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, China, Feb. 14—The U. S. legation learned last night from Mukden that troops have located a bandit band in Manchukuo which kidnaped Rev. Father Clarence Joseph Burns of Toledo, O., eight days ago.

The brigands were located in a valley 15 miles east of Tsitsihar, in Kirin province, by 52 Japanese gendarmes and 30 Manchukuoan soldiers.

Direct contact with the kidnapers has not yet been established, the advices from Mukden stated, with the rough terrain impeding rescue efforts.

Two Helpers Also Held

Fr. Burns, 35, has been in Manchukuo since July, 1934. He regularly made a 40-mile circuit of outpost missions on horseback.

He is attached to the Mary Knoll mission of Ossining, N. Y.

A Tokyo dispatch said two of his helpers also are held by the bandits. His parents live at Toledo, O.

* * *

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Feb. 14—Paul W. Avery, American mining engineer kidnaped with Samuel C. Faneuf and released to negotiate payment of ransom, went to Etzatlan today on route to contact his employer's kidnapers.

Avery was believed to have carried the ransom money with him and was expected to pay off the kidnap band and effect Faneuf's release late today or tomorrow.

George H. Winter, U. S. consul, said he had been informed that federal troops skirmished with the kidnapers several days ago but he had not heard the outcome.

GROUP TO FIGHT BAN ON SATIRE

Sentinels Retain Counsel in Effort To Get Permission To Show Anti-New Deal Film.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 — Raymond Pitcairn, national chairman of the Sentinels of the Republic, Inc., announced last night he had retained legal counsel in an effort to gain permission to show movies satirizing the new deal in Ohio.

He made the announcement from the stage of a Loop theater where his organization sponsored a week's run of the films.

Police Commissioner James P. Allman approved their exhibition here after the head of the police censorship board contended that they held President Roosevelt up to ridicule. But the commissioner ruled that the animated cartoon motion pictures violated no ordinance.

"The Ohio censors banned the 'amateur fire brigade' episode of our films on the ground that it 'seeks to arouse passions, emotions and prejudices and disrespect for the office of the President of the United States,'" Pitcairn stated.

"We have secured Ohio counsel to care for this situation.

"We have confidence in winning approval because public opinion, even of administration supporters, will not stand for suppression of the story this film has to tell the American people.

"From Ohio comes confirmation of our belief that enlightened public opinion will prevail in this matter."

Pitcairn read an editorial from the Columbus Citizen, newspaper which was described as an administration supporter, citing the censors' action as contrary to American tradition.

A rubber block has been invented for holding sheets of sandpaper that enables curved surfaces to be finished as readily as smooth ones.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

...of Trip Finds Rod and Betty With a Secret.

...ROSS was quiet for fully five minutes after the father had announced that they had arrived at the point where we could see why Notch got its name. Then he burst ...ut with an explanation showing ...was as elated as Dicky had been when the plan ... had originated with ...

"I don't blame you ... don't that cairn ...here who can't that cairn ... If I have a mountain— ... I want it to be ... thing else in the world."

"Best bet in the world," Junior ...ed to that policy. Junior," ...ther drawled, "you'll be ... successful man of somebody ... who wants his possessions to ... but doesn't knock you in ... head."

...ne laughed a bit uncertain- ...ut I knew his mirth had been ...ed by his father's tone and phraseology, rather than by his meaning. He forgot the whole thing the next instant at the sight of some animals in a small menagerie near the road, and we went on toward Crawford Notch with no further incursions into philosophy.

Beautiful Spot

But, mother-like, I wondered if perhaps I had just been granted a glimpse of the inner workings of my son's mind which I would do well to heed and remember.

But I, too, forgot philosophy and everything else when we began the descent through Crawford Notch. The road is closely-sentinaled by rows of giant trees on either side, and we went down and down until only by getting out and craning our necks to painful angles could we see a glimpse of the sky far above us.

"'This is the forest primeval'," I quoted, and Katherine went on: "'The murmuring pines and the hemlocks'," she murmured, then, more briskly: "I can see where the inspiration for the Gothic cathedrals came from. Look at those aisles of trees! Don't you have the feeling that if you went into them far enough, you'd find an ancient altar?"

"Better not get fanciful, Katrina," Dicky advised. "You'll be jumping out and going Druid on us."

Junior Sorry

"Couldn't you make it dryad?" she retorted demurely, and with a chuckle Dicky stopped his teasing.

"Gee! I'm sorry it's over," Junior sighed regretfully when we finally emerged into the sunlit valley at the farther end of the notch. "I liked it in there. Couldn't we go back, and come through it again?"

Dicky looked at his watch, giving the boy the conviction—as we always try to do—that any reasonable request of his will be granted if possible. However, he shook his head regretfully.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but we haven't time. I imagine we all feel the same way, but it can't be done today. The next time your mother and I come up, we'll take you up here again."

"And Rod, too?" Junior asked, while I wondered how much the question was prompted by loyalty, and how much by desire for the company of the cousin, who had played what in his boyish phraseology was a "dirty gyp" in the matter of concealing his scheme for having small Betty Gibbs solace his exile.

"Sure thing," his father said, "and Betty, too, if you want her."

Junior hesitated, and Katherine and I exchanged glances.

"Aw! she's a girl, and she'd be fussing around all over the lot," he said in tones of deep disgust, adding after a second, "but I suppose we might as well drag her along—she's never seen a lot of these things, she says, and her folk are so busy, it'll probably be a long time before they'll kin take her. I don't mind her coming along, if the grown-ups don't," he finished loftily.

"That's really noble of you, Junior," his father drawled, while Katherine and I held in audible laughter. "And I personally shall see to it that Betty sees as much as you and Roderick do."

Junior cocked a thoughtful eye at his father in patent doubt as to whether his mood was jest or earnest. I made a mental note to warn Dicky that our boy was daily growing older, and that he must be more wary where jests were concerned. And then, almost before we realized it, we were in familiar territory again, and turning down the road to the camp.

Noel, Mary, Mrs. Gibbs, with Faith in her play pen, and Williams, with Roderick and Betty close beside him, were all gathered in front of the camp. We had told them we would be back at four o'clock, and a glance at my wrist watch told me it still lacked ten minutes of the hour.

"Chicken dinner practically ready," Mrs. Gibbs said cheerily, and her young daughter struck a boastful attitude.

"You can't guess what Rod and I got," she said to Junior.

CLASSES IN MUSIC WILL BE ORGANIZED

Instruction Will Be Given in String Instruments by Emergency School.

Emergency school classes for instruction in stringed instruments are now being formed here, Carl L. Lister, emergency school supervisor, announced this morning. Twenty-five persons have already expressed a desire to enter the classes which are open to any resident of Marion city or county who is not at the present time enrolled in a public or parochial school.

The classes are to begin next week and will be in charge of Thomas Finch of 282 South State street. The pupils will meet at his studio on a schedule to be announced later. Instructions will be given to the various groups in violin, mandolin, guitar, banjo and Hawaiian guitar. No individual instructions may be given under the emergency school administration program, Mr. Lister said.

Anyone wishing to enter the classes may register either at the emergency school office in the Leetonia building at 197 West Center street or at Mr. Finch's studio on South State street.

As a result of the Brazilian government's efforts to revive that country's rubber industry, more than 50 firms are now engaged in the manufacture of virtually all types of rubber goods, using 2,000 tons of crude rubber annually.

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonfuls of bran daily continued to relieve constipation* over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system — the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal; with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."

Wintry Blasts Cut Supply of Fresh Produce in City

The wintry blasts finally dipped into the vegetable and fruit game, cutting the flow of produce to Marion market stands this week by a marked degree, dealers reported today.

Items dealers have been able to bring in are up considerably in price and madame is going to have to stretch her grocery allowance farther if she is to place on the table the variety of side dishes to which her family has become accustomed.

Even hothouse produce took a jump, the coal shortage being the reason, wholesalers say. The ray of sunshine in the clouds concerns strawberries. A nice quality berry is coming in from Florida now and took a drop in price from 35 to 20 cents a pint. Growers have been holding down shipments for some time and now find themselves overloaded—hence the price cut.

Among items which took a sharp jump this week are California peas. Last week they were selling at two pounds for a quarter, and this week the dealers are getting 25 cents a pound. All along the line—from Florida, Alabama and Texas to California—shipments have slowed up. Zero mornings in Texas have caused widespread crop damage, one Marion dealer who returned from there this week reported.

Scarcity among some items have sent prices up also. Grapefruit is coming through slowly and took a little jump. Tangerines are scarce and will be on the market stands only about two more weeks.

Also ready to sing their swan song to local markets for a time are Washington and New York state apples. They're from the storage houses and have been running in excellent quality.

The Italo-Ethiopian conflict is being felt in Marion, with lemons continuing at top prices due to retarded shipments from Italy. Italy does much to supply this country with the fruit and any slowing up of shipments from that country sends the price up on domestic lemons, dealers say. Another popular item that is "sky-high" because of scarcity is mushrooms. Very few are finding their way to local markets now.

Pascal celery hearts bowed out this week, although market men report nice quality California pascal stalks and Florida celery coming along in good quantity.

Oyster lovers will be sorry to learn that they're very scarce and are away up in the higher price brackets. Frozen oyster beds in Chesapeake bay in the Baltimore region is the reason.

HARDING BAND FUND SWELLED BY PICTURE

Committee Now Has $500 To Buy New Uniforms for School Musicians.

The fund for the purchase of uniforms for the Harding High school band was swelled to $500 last week by the sale of tickets for an Ohio theater picture sponsored by the Girls' Athletic association of which Miss Rachel McAfee is advisor.

Sale of tickets netted $175.40 to date, and the sum probably will be increased when final reports are made, those in charge said today.

The fund of $500 also includes the money from a benefit football game with Bucyrus last year, amounting to approximately $160, and a contribution from the school's activities fund.

Between $1,000 and $1,200 will be needed to purchase the 45 or 48 uniforms which will be required to outfit the band and officials expect this sum will be realized by the end of the school year.

Approximately 1,200 tickets were sold for the benefit picture. E. H. Shade acted as faculty member in charge of finances.

CYNICS UNABRIDGED

Curiosity—A woman who is never curious. A man who doesn't think of himself as "unusual."

Strategy—That to which a woman resorts when she wants her way. That to which a man resorts when he wants a woman out of the way.

Private Secretary—The human shock absorber, that relieves a man of all the jolts and jars and boresome details of business life. The alibi for all his mistakes.

Heart-balm—The profits of ruthless racketeering. That which makes the way of the transgressor as hard as his Lady Friend.

Conceit—A man's delusion that the world thinks as much of him as he thinks of himself. A woman's delusion that she can make the world think more of her than she thinks of herself.

Bridge Tea—A social occasion, at which 20 or more women can all talk at once, without losing their continuity or wrecking each other's train of thought.

Independence—That which develops a girl's character—but ruins her talent for keeping the buttons on a man's clothes.

Bickering—A form of domestic sniping. The weakening of the marriage tie bit by bit—or scrap by scrap.

Cute—A term of enthusiastic praise, used by debutantes to describe everything from the latest screen idol to the Empire State building. That which any normal woman would rather be than beautiful—or even than President.

Age of Indiscretion—That dangerous season of Indian summer, when a man's arteries begin to harden—and his heart and his head begin to soften.

Spring—The season of love for the young. (See: pain-in-the-heart) The housecleaning, re-decorating or apartment-hunting "winter of discontent" for the married. (See: pain-in-the-neck.)

BIG MEN FIGHT TAX ON INCOME

Mellon, du Pont, Raskob, Edison and Other Names on List of Objectors.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 14—A survey of federal records today disclosed scores of headline making names studding the list of income tax payers who have protested government assessments in the last two years

The files of the board of tax appeals recorded financiers manufacturers authors a senator and a convicted kidnap-murderer among those who object to duns of the internal revenue bureau

Some unfriendly to the new deal have charged political persecution Andrew W Mellon secretary of the treasury under three Republican presidents is one John J Raskob one-time Democratic national committee chairman is another

No Politics Involved

The treasury has insisted politics has nothing to do with its tax bills Democratic Senator Copeland of New York has been asked to pay So has the estate of Inventor Thomas A Edison whose son is chairman of the new deal's emergency council in New Jersey

Income tax assessments are held secret by the government The public only learns about them when a taxpayer protests

Only yesterday the board wound up testimony in Mellon's case The government says he owes an additional $3 089 000 on his 1931 income

Last Saturday Raskob was called upon to pay an additional $1 026 000 for alleged unreported income in 1929 When the government earlier had charged Raskob with agreeing with Pierre S du Pont to create fictitious losses in 1929 security sales he accused high administration officials of tyranny and cheap politics Both are members of the American Liberty league arch foe of the new deal

Du Ponts Billed Too

Other du Ponts have been billed Henry B du Pont was assessed $58 359 on his 1932 income and Lammot du Pont $128 524 for 1930 and 1931

One of the largest duns was handed the estate of the late Ivar Kreuger Swedish match king The government said he was behind to the tune of $9 054 027

Another big one went to William Randolph Hearst He was assessed $540 962 on his 1929 and 1930 incomes

From Bruno Richard Hauptmann and his wife Anna the government wants $9 678 which it says is due on income for the years 1932 and 1931 Hauptmann is under sentence of death for kidnaping and murdering the Charles A Lindbergh baby and receiving $50 000 in ransom money

P G Wodehouse the author and his wife Ethel, have been instructed to put up an additional $250 705 for income in the years 1925 to 1931

The Doris Duke trust—she is the tobacco heiress who recently married James H R Cromwell—was billed for $110 287 on 1931 income Senator Copeland the government says owed $208 for 1931

Parking problems in the business district of the city will be given a thorough study by city officials in an effort to find some solution to the question John V Ruth safety service director announced today

Tom S Cathcart city engineer is now preparing a map of the business district which will show all available parking space on both public and private property The study of the situation will also include a survey to determine the amount of space available for parking automobiles at the rear of storerooms and other buildings in the business area Mr Ruth said The results of the survey and the map will be turned over to the street and alley committee of council for study and possible action

One of the things to be considered in the study will be the present necessity for merchandise trucks to stop in main streets while making deliveries to stores Mr Ruth expressed the opinion that if deliveries of goods to some stores could be made through rear doors facing on alleys much of the congestion on main streets would be relieved
